

On-Line CPR Training

Save and Aid is proud to serve as a testing center for the American Heart Association's on-line CPR courses. These courses are perfect for students who want to learn and review at their own pace and on their own schedule. After reviewing the materials, students complete an on-line test. With a copy of successful test results, Save and Aid will observe the hands-on skills and issue the certification card. If this sounds like your kind of training, contact us for more details on this new format.
